

SHORT DESCRIPTION

Name

Crisis Preparedness and Resolution Options

Type

Regional seminar

Jointly organized by the Toronto Leadership Centre and Central Bank of Armenia with funding from the Canadian Department of Foreign Affairs, Trade and Development, and Swedish International Development Agency

Overview

The Program is designed to provide participants with the opportunity to practice the roles that monetary policy makers in central banks, supervisory/regulatory authorities and deposit insurance corporations play in managing a crisis arising from problems in a potentially systemic financial institution. The case studies and computer-simulated exercises will explore how central bankers, supervisors and deposit insurers co-ordinate with each other and with other authorities nationally and internationally during a crisis, and the tools available to them to deal with the systemic consequences of a bank failure.

In a simulated environment, the participants will be able to (i) practise using processes of contingency planning and choosing among possible resolution options for dealing with failing banks; (ii) co-ordinate with supervisors, central banks and deposit insurers and with other authorities nationally in a crisis; and (iii) deal with systemic consequences of a bank failure. At the end of the Program, participants will be able to examine the critical components of a crisis preparedness/contingency planning guide in the event of a financial crisis, in accordance to international best practices.

Participants

The Program is designed for middle/senior level supervisors and regulators from ODA-eligible countries with responsibilities in managing financial stability, financial surveillance and supervision of banking institutions, and central bankers involved in monetary policy and operations. The program is also highly relevant to staff of deposit insurance corporations.

Dates

1-5 June 2015

Deadline

1 April 2015

Language

English

Venue

Dilijan TC

Contact

Stella Chimishkyan

E-mail

stella.chimishkyan@cba.am